FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS IN A CREDIT INSTITUTION

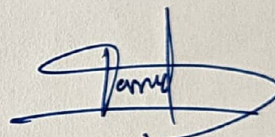

Vaibhav Nagari Sahkari PatSanstha maryadit, Pauni

A credit institution, such as a bank, plays a crucial role in managing financial transactions, including deposits, withdrawals, loans, and fund transfers. This report explores the different types of financial transactions in a credit institution and their significance in the economy.

This report highlights the importance of financial transactions in a credit institution and the significance of metrology in ensuring measurement accuracy. The study of both fields provides valuable insights into economic stability and industrial quality control.

Educational Field Visit Report on Core Banking

(HDFC Bank Branch, Pavani)

An educational field visit was organized for B.A. Second semester students under the Department of Economics on 10 October 2024.

On this occasion, Honorable Deepak Chaudhary, the Manager of HDFC Bank, provided students with detailed information about Core Banking and Internet Banking. Additionally, Honorable Chetan Bawane explained how Core Banking enables customers to conduct transactions from any branch of the bank, with all transaction details being recorded in the central bank system.

Today, almost all banking operations have been computerized. Due to this computerization, various banking services such as: Anywhere Banking, Anytime Banking, ATM (Automated Teller Machine), Mobile Banking, Internet Banking, RTGS (Real-Time Gross Settlement System) have become widely available. One such essential service is Core Banking, as emphasized during the session.

Mr. Nandkishor Singade, Head of the Economics Department, provided students with further insights into banking transactions. The session saw 27 participation from B.A. Second semester students.
